

Game Theoretic Approach to Air Combat Simulation

*Jirka Poropudas and Kai Virtanen
Systems Analysis Laboratory
Helsinki University of Technology
P.O. Box 1100, 02015 TKK, Finland jirka.poropudas@tkk.fi, kai.virtanen@tkk.fi*

We present a game theoretic approach to the validation of a discrete event air combat simulation model and the analysis of simulation data. Statistical techniques are applied for estimating games from simulation data. The validity of the simulation model is assessed by comparing the properties of the games to practices in air combat. The games are also applied for analyzing the effectiveness of air combat tactics and technologies.